The enduring integrity of a sport depends on the integrity of its participants. Thus, as comrades and competitors, members of the American West Texas Cutting Horse Association (AWTCHA) will demonstrate the values of respect, supportiveness, and equity in the promotion of cutting as a sport. While AWTCHA contests will showcase members' proficiency in and outside the arena, the events will also be recognized across the West Texas region as opportunities for enjoyment, individual development, family involvement, and community engagement.
